History and Social Science: CE.1, CE.4, CE.14, GOVT.1, GOVT.16

Instructional Steps:

1. Introduce the lesson by asking students for their opinions about the school's dress code (if the code is available online, you may choose to project it in the classroom to spur discussion). Likely, students will have definite opinions about the policy, some of which may not be positive. Using the issue as a jumping-off point, ask students, "Why do you think an organization such as a school has a dress code in the first place?" Encourage students to consider the reasoning behind the school's dress code and to predict the consequences of a school without guidelines for student and teacher dress.
2. Explain that, today, the class is going to explore dress codes in the workplace and the rationale behind them. Ask students to watch the following video (length is just 1:19) by the British organization, ACAS (Advisory, Conciliation and Arbitration Service), entitled "What should I wear at work?" (<https://youtu.be/HnRs5TEUj3Q>).

3. Ask students to answer the following questions, based upon the video:

What are some reasons why employers want workers to dress a certain way when they are at work?

Give four reasons from the video. (Answer: an employer may want to convey a corporate or professional image; an employer may require a uniform; an employer may set standards based on health and hygiene [e.g., employees must wear a hair net while working around food]; an employer may be adhering to safety standards [e.g., no loose clothing around industrial machinery])

How do workers know what they should wear when they come to work? (Answer: the company dress code policy)

What are some examples of situations where accommodations must be made regarding employee dress? (Answer: religious dress; employees with disabilities)

4. Explore a sample company dress code. Individually or in pairs/groups, ask students to actively read and highlight important points on Teacher Resource #1: Sample Dress Code and answer the questions on Handout #1: Understanding Dress Codes. As a class, discuss the rationale behind the dress code, as well as student responses. Ask, “Ultimately, dress codes are meant to protect both the organization and its employees. In what ways does a dress code accomplish this?”

Formative Assessment:

- Assess student understanding as demonstrated in the class and small group discussions.
- Evaluate student understanding of concepts within the lesson as demonstrated by responses to Handout #1: Understanding Dress Codes.

Options for Adaptation/Differentiation:

- To complete this activity in a shorter amount of time, complete Handout #1: Understanding Dress Codes, as a whole class. Teacher Resource #1: Sample Dress Code can be read aloud to students who struggle with reading skills.
- To extend this activity and provide further enrichment, ask students to create a bulletin board entitled “Tips for Dressing Professionally.”

Suggestions for Follow-up:

- Invite a manager or a human resources professional from business and industry to discuss the importance of professional dress in the workplace.
- Ask students to reflect in writing on the activity by answering the following essay questions:

Why might an auto repair shop have policies regarding jewelry, hair length, and footwear? Explain.

What industries’ dress codes are impacted by laws governing the health and hygiene of employees? Why do you think these laws exist?

How does the clothing worn by employees impact the culture of a workplace? Explain.

Sample Dress Code

[Company name] strives to embody professionalism in the field and to maintain a workplace that reflects its mission of service and professionalism. Our dress code is part of that effort. All facets of our dress policy are intended to maintain a work environment that is free from distraction and reflects positively on our organization.

Because we serve the public directly, staff members are expected to adhere to a dress code that outlines the components of a professional and businesslike image. Each staff person represents our organization while at work; staff members' grooming and appearance reflects directly on customers' impressions of our business as a whole. Any staff person who does not follow the guidelines below is subject to corrective action; staff who are asked to return home to change out of inappropriate clothing will be required to use personal leave time to do so.

We expect our staff to be dressed professionally. For our organization, that means that men should wear a collared shirt (with or without a tie), dress trousers or khakis (no cargo-style pants or denim), and loafers or dress shoes. Tennis shoes and sandals are not allowed. Women should wear dress trousers or a skirt and a shirt (with sleeves). Women may also wear businesslike dresses, and should wear comfortable, conservative shoes. Tennis shoes and sandals are not allowed. Accessories, for both men and women, should not be distracting.

During the summertime, on Fridays, and on certain occasions (e.g., the annual company picnic), we may break with this policy in favor of a more casual dress code. During those times, staff must use good judgement regarding appropriate workwear. Please refer to the following chart for guidance.

"CASUAL DAY" DRESS
APPROPRIATE	NOT APPROPRIATE
Trousers
<ul style="list-style-type: none"><li>• jeans</li><li>• skorts</li><li>• capri pants</li><li>• walking shorts</li></ul>	<ul style="list-style-type: none"><li>• anything shorter than fingertip length</li><li>• sweatpants</li><li>• leggings</li><li>• anything that is soiled, frayed, ripped, revealing, or tight</li></ul>
Shirts

Shoes
<ul style="list-style-type: none"><li>• loafers</li><li>• clogs</li></ul>	<ul style="list-style-type: none"><li>• flip-flops or sandals (including slides and Crocs)</li><li>• athletic shoes</li></ul>

In addition to the guidelines for dress, employees are expected to maintain proper hygiene. This includes refraining from strong perfumes that can be distracting and cause medical reactions in others. Hair and nails should be clean and well-kept. Appropriate accommodations will be made for employees with disabilities, as well as employees' religious beliefs in terms of workplace attire, unless the accommodation creates an undue hardship. Requests for such accommodations, or any questions regarding the dress and grooming policy, should be directed to the human resources department.
